Sports & Esports

The story behind the Sports & Esports specialization

“Mixing one’s wine may be a mistake, but old and new wisdom mix admirably” (Berthold Brecht)

Two worlds?

Football, basketball, ice skating, chess, cycling, table tennis, F1, athletics and rugby, or Mariokart, LEGOs, Cluedo, Goldeneye 64, PUBG, CounterStrike, Fifa, Fortnite or League of Legends? They seem two opposite worlds, but both build upon the same feelings of freedom, joy, fun, bonding, and pride; they instinctively match through one distinct characteristic: play. Whether we make up our own set of rules, participate in organized contests, are physically involved or staring at a screen: the shared experience is that of playing games.

Physical and digital worlds

A generation of young people have grown up playing games in two worlds: the physical world and the virtual or digital world. Play takes place in worlds that are local and physical as well as global and digital (playing on grass pitches with next-door friends as well as online with strangers from all over the world). These worlds blend into our personal lives, yet industry wise they seem two worlds apart.

Gaming (as in computer-generated play) has been the biggest entertainment industry since the 1980s and its role as a major form of leisure has slowly but surely changed this generation’s understanding of play, games and sports as forms of leisure. As a result, esports as competitive video-gaming, emerged in the early 2000s and have since steadily been on the rise. And although other generations still participate mostly in traditional sports, for generation Y and Z there has been a decline in favour of gaming and esports.

So out with the old, in with the new then?

Not quite. Although the place of play and spectatorship may have shifted, games and sports have not changed at its core: they are competitive moments of play. Be it an onsite football match or an online League of Legends tournament, we seek the thrill and joy of celebrating a game and expressing identity. We immerse ourselves in an experience that even defines the very person we are. So, if indeed play, games and sports are fundamentally the same, why not learn from traditional sports’ rich past, as well as from esports’ glimpses of the future? Why not mix and acknowledge the strength of both?

The cross-roads between traditional sports and esports

We see great opportunities in celebrating sports and games, experience creation and identity expression. By using insights from both worlds, we see chances for innovation and creativity through blending. Opportunities in creating and maintaining the next generation of fan loyalty, in the strategic employing of sports and esports, in creating experiences for like-minded people, in making and improving experiences that are diverse and inclusive. In a word, we see opportunities through crossovers between both industries.

Therefore, we want to seize on this opportunity and educate a generation of leisure and event managers that can look beyond the traditional borders of industries. A generation that excels in fusing knowledge and possibilities, capable of thinking in new ways, passionate about sports and esports and able to transfer, combine and employ these insights in designing and producing a new breed of sports and esports experiences.

Mixing, fusing, blending, combining, and transfer is therefore key. We want to realize the transfer of insights for new applications and other industries. The right student for SES (Sports & Esports specialisation) is therefore a sports and esports enthusiast, curious about creating these new blended (e)sports experiences. A playmaker who is willing to look beyond his/ her own sports or esports framework and interests so he/ she can create a new brand of meaningful and strategic experiences to the leisure industry.

The student we're looking for

We're looking for students who want to become scouts and playmakers of sports and esports experiences.

Specifically, you ...

- Are pro-active and a team player (you are responsible, reliable, and you think in solutions)
- Although perhaps firstly attracted by an interest in sports or esports, you are curious and open to learn about BOTH
- See the value of comparing and contrasting sports with esports and vice versa
- Flourish in an environment more characterized by opportunities/insecurities than a set context/ industry
- Are internationally oriented and focused
- Enthusiastic about creating meaningful experiences
- Are active in networking for your own development
- Enjoy play and the fun of sports and games in both product as well as the process.

Please note that we are looking for students who recognize themselves in these characteristics mostly: it's just as important that you are willing to develop yourself in these areas (which you'll get the opportunity to do during the specialisation).
